108 "from moscow's viewpoint," review of week's events: last week afghan academy of science issued statement strongly denouncing plans by u.s. imperialist circles and their allies in nato for escalating arms race. this is an indication that afghan people want to endeavor to build new life in peaceful conditions. dra government has made enormous efforts toward eliminating tensions and seeking ways for normalizing relations between neighboring countries. last week babrak karmal met in kabul with elders of tribes in qandahar province. afghan government is devoting great attention to tribes and various nationalities in country and is giving them large-scale assistance. despite false propaganda by foes of sawr revolution accusing dra leadership of disrespect toward traditions and customs of tribes and of disrupting their way of life. afghan government has guaranteed full freedom for tribes and for their customs and traditions. tribal elders have expressed readiness to cooperate with pdpa and dra government in defending homeland and gains of revolution. recent reports from pakistan indicate that military government has taken measures to relocate afghan counterrevolutionary bands. apparently reason for this is lately clashes have taken place between rebel bands and police because these bands have ignored orders of local governments. but in view of observers main reason is large number of afghans who had been deceived by false propaganda of counterrevolution now want to join popular government. this development forced pakistani government to resort to futile measures so that according to pakistani authorities control over counterrevolutionary bands and their activities would become easier. last week fifth group of prisoners who had repented of their counterrevolutionary activities were released from prison by afghan authorities.
